

AAAPC

Australasian Association for Academic Primary Care Inc.

AAAPC Annual Research Conference 2019

The Australasian Association of Academic Primary Care (AAAPC) will hold its inaugural Annual Research Conference (ARC 2019). ARC 2019 will take place at the University of Adelaide from 12-13 July 2019.

The conference will be an important opportunity for:

- Showcasing Australasia's leading primary care research
- Nurturing research excellence
- Building effective research collaborations
- Translating evidence into high quality practice
- Magnifying impact in primary care research

The conference is expecting over 200 delegates from across Australia, New Zealand and the wider international primary care community. Sessions will include engaging plenary speakers, skills-building workshops and interactive poster sessions.

Registrations are now open

Registration includes access to all sessions from the opening on Friday 12 July to closing on Saturday 13 July, lunch and morning/afternoon teas. All non-member rates include 12 month membership to the AAAPC.

Please visit our website for further information and online registration.

Conference Sponsors

Primary Care Collaborative Cancer Clinical Trials Group (PC4)

PC4 is the Primary Care Collaborative Cancer Clinical Trials Group funded by Cancer Australia to support the development of high quality cancer research in primary care. We assist in developing research concepts into successful funding applications. The expertise of our members covers all aspects of the cancer continuum from prevention to palliative care. Our community advisory group contributes to all of our activities, providing advice on research concepts and future directions from a consumer perspective. Visit our website to join, membership is free!

CSIRO Publishing - Australian Journal of Primary Health

CSIRO Publishing is an editorially independent science publisher within the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation (CSIRO). Our internationally recognised program covers a wide range of disciplines, including agriculture, plant and animal sciences, chemistry, health and the environment. Our product range includes journals, books and magazines, and we have a global reputation for quality and excellence.

Each year at the AAAPC's Annual Research Conference, Australian Journal of Primary Health awards a prize for the best paper relevant to the interests and scope of the journal.

About AAAPC

Vision

The Australasian Association of Academic Primary Care's vision is for a multidisciplinary primary care oriented health care system founded on patient-centred, primary care principles and developed through evidence and education.

Mission

To be Australia and New Zealand's leading advocate for high quality multidisciplinary primary care research, education, policy and practice.

Members

We are a proudly multidisciplinary Trans-Tasman organisation. Our members are from Australia and New Zealand. All share a passion for primary care and include:

- Professionals from any primary care discipline who have an interest in research and/or education
- Primary care academics working at universities or with training providers
- Higher degree research students and/or postgraduate trainees of primary care disciplines
- Organisations with an interest in strengthening the capacity, capability and influence of primary care in the health systems of Australia and New Zealand. These include universities, regional health authorities, primary care training providers and professional colleges

Prof Kirsty Douglas MBBS Dip RACOG MD FRACGP

President | Australasian Association of Academic Primary Care

Professor of General Practice | Australian National University Medical School

Director Academic Unit of General Practice | ACT Health Directorate

Building 4, Level 2, Canberra Hospital

PO Box 11, Woden, ACT 2606

P: +61 2 6244 4947

kirsty.a.douglas@anu.edu.au